An entirely different story of the strike or lockout was given to-day by a member of the firm of A. R. Baird, of Myrtle avenue and Hooper street, Williamsburg. He said that no money question was involved, but that the fight was simply being made to decide who was to run the yards, the employed or the employers.

"We are waiting for our men to return." he added; "but unless they come back by Monday there is a strong probability that this yard find all the other yards in the city will employ non-union men in the future."

On Friday of last week a meeting was held of all the bluestone bosses, and it was decided that the employers about take the offensive. Consequently on Monday morning, 400 stone-cutters were notified that they were no longer required unless they were willing to do such work as should be given them. All of the men refused to accept and quit work.
